

Student Debt

Although student loans are a convenient source of funding for education, one must borrow carefully. Currently, the average loan debt for graduates of degrees and certificates is $10,102. Student debt varies by individual, depending on the program of study and the amount of money borrowed.